

Andrews Six Elements Wizard™

The Andrews Six Elements theories and principles in an easy-to-use system

For decades, the pioneering efforts of the Lawrence F. Andrews Foundation have been affecting the course of modern orthodontia. From the groundbreaking Six Keys to Normal (Optimal) Occlusion® to the Straight-Wire appliance to the Six Elements of Orofacial Harmony™, these concepts have established the highest standards for the achievement of optimal orthodontic results.

The Andrews Six Elements Wizard is a software system designed to assist orthodontists in applying The Six Element Philosophy to their diagnoses and the preparation of a customized Andrews bracket prescription.

Andrews Six Elements Wizard™

A Step-By-Step Diagnostic Process

The Andrews Six Elements Wizard guides the user through the process of performing key measurements and then it automatically performs all necessary calculations. The software aids you in developing a customized treatment plan that is consistent with The Six Elements theories and principles.

Simulation and prescription

The software accepts your measurements as you enter them, and shows a customized optimal treatment based on The Six Elements Principles. Based on your final diagnosis, the software generates a virtual simulation of the projected treatment on the patient's face, and delivers a customized Andrews bracket prescription.

Step-By-Step Diagnosing and Treatment Planning

Here you see examples of the easy-to-use Wizard interface. Once you follow the screens, enter your findings and answer a few questions, you can develop a customized treatment plan and bracket prescription based on the Six Elements Philosophy. Never before have such sound treatment standards been so easy to achieve.

There is no simpler or more effective way to achieve this level of diagnosis and treatment planning than with the Andrews Six Elements Wizard.
